Prerequisites

Hebrew 7 or equivalent.

Course Goal

This course is intended for students who want to develop their ability to read and comprehend unpointed Hebrew texts in general, and texts in rabbinic vernacular in particular.

Course Description

In the course we will read and discuss short stories by the Nobel-prize-winning author, S.Y. Agnon, with the goal of enhancing the students’ Hebrew reading and comprehension skills and, secondarily, their Hebrew oral and written expression. We will pay special attention to (i) features of Rabbinic Hebrew that we encounter in Agnon’s writing and (ii) accuracy in parsing and vocalizing unpointed texts.

In advance of each class, a text will be distributed together with a study guide. Students will be expected to have read the text, used appropriate tools to understand it, and addressed the issues raised in the study guide, and to be prepared to read the text fluently and explain it in class. Discussion in Hebrew will be encouraged. Bi-weekly, students will submit written reflections.

Students will be evaluated based on preparation for class, class participation, written assignments and progress in their ability to read and comprehend texts. There will a final project and oral examination in which students will be given the opportunity to demonstrate their progress.
